

Root vegetables are high in vitamins A, B and C. Do you want to grow your own root vegetables? If so, you need to plant carrots, turnips, parsnips, radishes, onions and beets in the fall. You should plant potatoes in early spring and sweet potatoes in late spring.

Fun Fact

The state vegetable of Georgia is the Vidalia Onion!